

1. What's trendy in dermatology

Autoinflammatory diseases

Yuumi NAKAMURA, et al ..... 10

Genetics of pustular psoriasis and diversity of the disease

Kazumitsu SUGIURA ..... 15

Bromoderma revisits

Yumi NAKAYAMA ..... 20

Arteriovenous fistula of the lower leg

Takeo IDEZUKI ..... 27

Medical device-related pressure ulcers

Takao TACHIBANA ..... 32

2. Pathomechanisms of skin diseases

Intrinsic atopic dermatitis

Yoshiki TOKURA ..... 38

Atopic dermatitis and sweat antigen

Makiko HIRAGUN, et al ..... 43

Why do we itch when getting warm?

Hiroyuki MUROTA ..... 47

Graft-versus-host disease and engraftment syndrome

Kentaro YONEKURA ..... 51

Frontal fibrosing alopecia

Reiko WATABE, et al ..... 54

3. Novel diagnostic tests and tools

Systemic sclerosis- or myositis-specific autoantibodies that are useful for subgrouping patients and predicting prognosis

Yasuhito HAMAGUCHI, et al ..... 58

Hand-held doppler : The indispensable tool for diagnosis of foot and leg ulcer

Takaaki ITO ..... 62

Dermoscopic features of seborrheic keratosis that could help making a definite diagnosis

Anna SADAYASU, et al ..... 67

Dermoscopic examination of nail

Hisashi UHARA ..... 72

New tuberculosis diagnostic tools : QuantiFERON and T-SPOT

Norihisa ISHII, et al ..... 78

4. Therapeutic gems for skin diseases

The efficacy of increased dose of anti-allergic drugs for chronic urticaria

Satoshi MORIOKE, et al ..... 84

Application of EpiPen autoinjector

Yuko CHINUKI, et al ..... 89

|                                                                                        |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Therapeutic algorithm for prurigo chronica multiformis                                 |     |
| Kazumoto KATAGIRI                                                                      | 94  |
| Treatments for elderly patients with psoriasis                                         |     |
| Yoshinori UMEZAWA, et al                                                               | 99  |
| Narrow-band ultraviolet B phototherapy for cutaneous chronic graft-versus-host disease |     |
| Sayaka UMEDA, et al                                                                    | 105 |
| Treatment of infantile hemangioma with oral propranolol                                |     |
| Sayuri TODA, et al                                                                     | 111 |
| The use of Botox for the treatment of primary focal hyperhidrosis                      |     |
| Tomoko FUJIMOTO, et al                                                                 | 117 |
| Fixation of skin graft by negative-pressure wound therapy                              |     |
| Miki TANIOKA                                                                           | 122 |
| Treatment for clavus, tyrososis, wart and nail by German style footcare                |     |
| Hiroshi NAKAMICHI                                                                      | 125 |

5. Clinical topics for dermatologists

|                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Chapel Hill Consensus Conference 2012                                                                                                                |     |
| Keiji IWATSUKI                                                                                                                                       | 132 |
| $\gamma$ -Secretase gene mutation in familial hidradenitis suppurativa                                                                               |     |
| Toshihisa HAMADA, et al                                                                                                                              | 135 |
| Novel findings of varicella zoster virus primary infection                                                                                           |     |
| Hideki ITO, et al                                                                                                                                    | 139 |
| Epidemic of rubella                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Noriko FUJII, et al                                                                                                                                  | 143 |
| Severe fever with thrombocytopenia syndrome : Tick borne viral disease                                                                               |     |
| Yasuo WADA                                                                                                                                           | 146 |
| Method to remove a blood-sucking tick from the skin with petrolatum                                                                                  |     |
| Masaru NATSUAKI                                                                                                                                      | 149 |
| Trend of the treatment of onychomycosis with topical antifungal agents                                                                               |     |
| Shinichi WATANABE                                                                                                                                    | 154 |
| What are the causes of feet odor?                                                                                                                    |     |
| Mayumi MIYAMOTO, et al                                                                                                                               | 156 |
| Use of human induced pluripotent stem cells in dermatology                                                                                           |     |
| Manabu OHYAMA                                                                                                                                        | 159 |
| A training course for dermatohistopathology entitled "Jissen! Hifubyoridojo 2013" in the 112th annual meeting of Japanese Dermatological Association |     |
| Osamu YAMAMOTO                                                                                                                                       | 162 |
| Problems of home medical care for dermatologist                                                                                                      |     |
| Zenzo ISOGAI, et al                                                                                                                                  | 165 |