

ENDOSCOPIA DIGESTIVA

Volume 38, Number 5, May 2026

CONTENTS

Special Issue

In-Depth Explanation: Endoscopic Diagnosis of Disorders Involving the Esophagogastric Junction

Introductory remarks: "Please breathe in deeply."	Yoshio Hoshihara	558
Definition of the esophagogastric junction:
Differences between Japan and West	Shiko Kuribayashi et al.	560
Definition of Barrett's esophagus: Differences between Japan and West	Yuichi Hirano et al.	565
Anatomy and pathology of the esophagogastric junction	Ken-ichi Mukaisho	572
Epidemiology of disorders involving the esophagogastric junction	Noriaki Manabe et al.	579
I. Endoscopic Observation of Disorders Involving the Esophagogastric Junction (EGJ)
Tips for observing the EGJ unsedated	Yoko Kitamura et al.	587
Tips for observing the EGJ sedated	Tomoyuki Koike et al.	590
How to get better views of the EGJ during transnasal endoscopy	Kenro Kawada et al.	596
II. Endoscopic Diagnosis of Non-neoplastic Disorders
How to decide the EGJ endoscopically to diagnose the Barrett's esophagus	Yoshimasa Miura et al.	601
《Note》 How to conduct surveillance endoscopy
in Barrett's esophagus in the light of its cancer incidence	Katsunori Iijima et al.	605
Diagnosis of hiatal hernia: Including modalities other than endoscopy	Noriyuki Kawami et al.	609
《Note》 Functional evaluation of the anti-reflux mechanism at the esophagogastric junction
using endoscopic pressure study integrated system (EPSIS)	Mayo Tanabe et al.	614
Endoscopic diagnosis of gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD):
Is "GERD grade M" really a mild form of reflux esophagitis?	Yorinari Ochiai et al.	617
Endoscopic differential diagnosis of esophageal motility disorders	Hiroki Fukuya et al.	623
III. Endoscopic Diagnosis of Neoplastic Lesions
Pathology of tumors arising in the esophagogastric junction:
including the differences between Barrett's adenocarcinoma and gastric cardia cancer	Kurara Yamamoto	627
Diagnosis of squamous cell carcinomas of the esophagogastric junction:
Are they different from those in other regions?	Miwako Arima et al.	631

Detection and detailed diagnosis of adenocarcinoma arising from short segment Barrett's esophagus	Toshiro Iizuka et al.	639
《Note》 What are the keys to differentiate Barrett's esophageal adenocarcinoma from reflux esophagitis and Barrett's esophagus?	Mitsuru Kaise et al.	645
Detection and detailed diagnosis of adenocarcinoma arising from long segment Barrett's esophagus	Yugo Iwaya et al.	649
Endoscopic diagnosis of gastric cardia cancer when the status of Helicobacter pylori infection is taken into consideration	Masaaki Kobayashi et al.	654
《Note》 Artificial intelligence (AI) -assisted diagnosis of adenocarcinoma arising from Barrett's esophagus	Toshiaki Hirasawa et al.	661

TOKYO IGAKUSHA Ltd. 5-16 Kohinata 4-chome, Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo 112-0006 Japan